

Voyaris and Ganz Automotive Target the Industry

Voyaris, a CBC (America) Corp. company, recently released a complete line of mobile resource management solutions. According to the company, its products provide in-depth fleet information through an industry leading, web-based fleet management platform.

Two of Voyaris' most popular products, FleetLokator, which is designed for small to large fleets, and FleetLogix boast a host of features including speed alert, ignition on/off, anti-theft alert, manual locate, door unlock, engine disable, and daily device diagnostic reports.

When used in conjunction with products from its sister company, Ganz Automotive, they can transmit real-time video. Sensors can be easily installed to monitor that the vehicle's rear doors have opened and that the passenger entered the vehicle. Ganz also offers drive recorder and roundview camera systems, which can provide a record of a crash, monitor in-vehicle activity, or capture the vehicle's speed.

Adept Chosen for Annual Nashville Event

Adept Limousine, a mainly corporate company based in Nashville, Tennessee, handled the ground transportation needs for Sound & Speed 2010, which was held in Nashville

Don Roy, owner of Adept

this past January. It was the company's fifth year in a row. The event, which featured top NASCAR drivers and country music artists, raises money for professional racer Kyle Petty's "Victory Junction," a year-round camp for children with chronic medical conditions, and the Country Music Hall of Fame's "All for the Hall." The event has included such headliners as NASCAR superstars Richard Petty, Dale Earnhardt Jr., Michael Waltrip, Kyle Petty, and more. Some of the participating country artists included Alan Jackson, Taylor Swift, Hank Williams Jr., Diamond Rio, and Vince Gill, just to name a few.

The annual event has attracted about 40,000 fans and raised more than $800,000 since its inception.

One of these cars is making money, while the other may be driving its operator right out of business. Why? Because only one of them is leased, allowing its operator to put new wheels on the road and maintain cash flow at the same time. Purchasing often requires higher monthly payments, even after a down payment. That ties up cash and inhibits growth. And depending on the type of lease you choose, there may be considerable tax advantages. So talk to your accountant or financial advisor, then call Titus – the full-service transportation equipment leasing company. You'll see why leasing is a smart choice.
